TOMU Named In Washington Business Journal's Startups To Watch In 2022

The DC-area modular builder is one of ten companies highlighted for innovation in Greater Washington

WASHINGTON, DC & FREDERICK, MD, Jan. 14, 2022 – Today, TOMU was named in Washington Business Journal's recent list of Startups to Watch in 2022. TOMU is joined by Aneta Ed, Cooler, Larabee, Moment AI, Mytonomy, Novilla Pharmaceuticals, ShiftMed, We Are Marcus, and Wellfound Foods as companies leading innovation in the Greater Washington-area.

TOMU is bringing innovations in modular and prefabricated construction to the leisure and hospitality space through their line of modular dwellings aimed at vacation home buyers, rental property investors, and hotel developers.

The TOMU Villa line consists of a studio, 1-bedroom and 2-bedroom floor plans that are prefabricated in TOMU's Frederick, Maryland manufacturing facility and shipped 95% complete to the developer's chosen site, with only minimal on-site assembly and finish work required.

"We are very excited and honored to be listed with the other nine companies in Washington Business Journal's Startups to Watch this year," said Chris Osaka, the President and Founder of TOMU. "We hope we can leverage our location in Washington to promote the benefits of modular construction and accelerate regulatory change to make these building innovations more easily accessible to a wider audience."

Individual TOMU Villa reservations are currently available on bytomu.com, with a portal for multi-unit sales at bytomu.com/developers with deliveries beginning in Fall 2022.
